Goldsmith's Institution being a free School, these Rules are not applicable to the present case. However they are intended to relate to Schools where a good secular education is given, but not to Technical Schools.

As there are instances of grants having been sanctioned to Industrial Schools, the rules may be relaxed in the present case & the grant of Rs 100 recommended by the I G sanctioned.

The I G appears to have already recommended grants in some cases. Instead of dealing with each case separately, it would be better to ~~[illegible]~~ deal with them all simultaneously so that provision may be made in the ensuing year's budget, regard being had to the fact that a large sum of Rs 50,000 has to be provided for in the Education Budget on account of Technical Research Institute from the 1st January 1908. There is also the I G's proposal for increasing the pay of the Hobli School masters involving a recurring expenditure of a large sum. This fact has also to be considered in dealing with applications for grants-in-aid.

SIR

With reference to your letter No 12053/Edn 380-06-5 dated 21st June 1907, I have the honour to invite your attention to my letter No 7640/651 dated 15th April 1907 requesting that a monthly grant of Rs 100 may be sanctioned towards the cost of Industrial Education proposed by the founder to be given in Sri Lakshmi Narasimhaswami Dharma Pathasala at Bangalore. The monthly cost of the establishment required for such instruction as given in the letter quoted above Janopkari Doddamma is prepared to equip the workshops and supply the materials required at his own cost. Rs 100 proposed as a monthly grant is not too much for an institution like this which will be unique of its kind in the State combining Industrial with general education. It will be observed that no grant is recommended for the general education branch of the school though it costs more than Rs 100 a month I request that Government will be pleased to sanction the grant from 1st July 1908 As much of it will be released as may be necessary for the industries that may be commenced, the full grant being given only when the three industries of Carpentry, Smithy and weaving are taught

2 To teach the industries additional accommodation will be required. Mr Doddanna is prepared to raise the required buildings within a few months before the 1st July next and also to equip the workshops. As however he will have no means left after erecting additional buildings and equipping the workshops to maintain the establishment necessary for teaching the industries named, he begs that Government may be pleased to promise the monthly grant applied for. On receiving the Government's promise he will immediately commence the construction of additional buildings. It is under these circumstances that the founder asks for a monthly grant to be provided before the industrial section of the school comes into existence.
